

Working out a suiting itinerary for clients is a serious task. You want them to be happy, satisfied and most of all: safe when travelling their dream trip.

To make sure everything is in order, Bharte-reizen goes on site to check if suppliers meet the standards we handle.

On one of those inspection trips in Namibia, I met a small group of people, right at the Sesriem-canyon. Among them founder of Desert Air, Thys Rall. A friendly, eloquent man with a passion for flying and a human interest for people. We talked shortly as we both had our schedule.

But in that short moment the seed was planted and as we had swapped contact details, I was pretty sure this would be continued somehow.

And so, it did. In that same group was one of Desert Air's staff members and much later I met Carien Rall. She is the daughter of Thys and running the business nowadays.

Today Bharte-reizen collaborates with Desert Air to make 100% sure that our clients travel safe and come back home with a mind full of great memories.

Desert Air is one of the most reliable companies when it comes to using an airplane for travelling around Namibia. They have their own workshop and mechanics so they know exactly about which bolt is where and how to maintain the precious machines.

They are a fully licensed supplier of aero medical evacuations; our fully equipped, pressurized air ambulance is on standby with dual pilot operation.

Desert Air offers a one-on-one extensive flight training program. You could learn how to fly above the desert!

In short:

If you want to see Namibia from the skies, rely on Desert Air.
Like we do at Bharte-reizen, Namibia Luxury Tours.

Go straight to our fly-in safari itineraries

